Thanks for the update. Just to confirm, that will include all of the batch tickets, correct?

Thanks.

Katie

Jeffrey –

I know it has likely been a very busy week for you but I wanted to check in on my remaining data requests. We still have many outstanding items, including the remaining batch ticket information since 10/1/15 with the exception of the 7 days provided. We are also awaiting all data that we pushed to the second phase of the request.

Can you give me a status update?

Katie:

Thank you for the emails.

We will need some additional time to gather the remaining batch tickets. We can also provide the composition of the color mixes. Would like to provide these documents with the remaining documents.

With respect to the information on the batch tickets, perhaps a call between you and Eric would be the best way to discuss.

Please propose some times that may work.

One more question to make sure I understand the records:

For each ticket, are the amounts the total melted or is the ticket a recipe and a larger or smaller amount might actually be melted based on the demands for the day. For instance, would it be 5 lbs of a chemical per batch but 7 batches are melted of that recipe on that day. I see references to 7bbls and 1 bbls and am wondering if these means 7 barrels or seven batches each with the quantity listed.

Thanks for your help clarifying these issues.

Thank you for providing the information. I am reviewing but will likely need the additional batch records. One quick clarification question. The batch records list several different numbers of "color Premix." Can you provide more information on what is in this color premix for each of the numbers?
